3. Speakers A, B, C, and D are discussing relations between Great Britain and the American colonies in early 1776. Base your answer(s) to the question(s) on the speakers’ statements and on your knowledge of social studies.

Speaker A: Let me say quite simply that making laws is not a basic right of the colonies. We are part of the British Empire and should obey the laws made by Parliament.

Speaker B: Let us first try to have our wrongs set right by just and peaceful means—by boycotting British goods, for example—before we take a step so extreme as to fight our mother country.

Speaker C: A government of our own is our natural right, and it is better to form one now, when we have the power, than to wait until we may have such a chance again.

Speaker D: Let us behave like obedient children, who have received unjust blows from a beloved parent. Let us complain to our parent, but with words, not guns.
